The defendant company is represented by Judge Thomas N. Hill and Judge T. W.

Rapids. Esfore they had completed the contract they failed and were adjudged to be bankrupts. The canal people claim that Morton, Reed & Co. did not carry out their contract, and that by reason of their failure to do so the electric power-house cost $5.000 more than it would have cost otherwise. The assignee of Morton, Reed & Co. demanded, under the contract, the payment of $446.85 commission due them by the water-power company. This claim the canal company refused to pay, and the suit was started. A good many witnesses have been examined, and it will probably be several days before the case is completed for the referee.

The immigrants are in charge of the officers of the Boutwell and are being cared for at the government yards, where they will remain until the immigrant inspector arrives. The story they tell is quite pathetic. When they ieft Brava, they were each allowed one biscuit with a little brown sugar sprinkled on it a day, and when their water got low they were made to put one bucket of fresh to two buckets of sea water for drinking purposes. Thousands of people flocked down to the yard to see the strangers and in the afternoon they were moved to sell some of the souvenirs that they brought over with them.

The Grand Lodge is already hard at work. The important committees were at work all day to-day preparing the routine for the lodge, and in-consequence of which there was no delay in gotting down to business. The visitors are meeting with a hearty welcome, and the city has been turned over to them for amusement and pleasure.

A business session will be held Wednesday morning, and in the afternoon the entire lodge will be taken to Wrighisville Beach on chartered trolley cars, and one feature of the outing will be a big cyster roast, for which this section is famed.

tary of the Treasurer, Lyman J. Gage who discussed the question, "Is the Money Supply of the United States Suffclent?" "I answer the question," he said, "by expressing the very grave doubt whether it be adequate in volume, and a clear conviction that it is not economical in character. The provision for supply ought to have reference to recurring needs, reuse of currency are the greatest and reless exacting."

He argued for credit or asset currency, saying that he was well aware that deep prejudice exists against either "but an honorable history of such a currency for a generation in several States, and a history of several generations abrond, fully justifies the belief that with some reasonable and just guards around it, we can gain the advantage of an adequate currency without any risk of disaster or the loss of a single dollar."

He asserted that the following proposition could be successfully supported:

1. Such a currency is required in the interest of the whole country.

2. The protection of the notcholder against depreciation or loss may be made entirely adequate.

3. There need be no dangerous credit expansion through bank note issues if reasonable limitation be imposed as to wolume, and a proper system of central redemption provided.

4. Such a currency would go far toward arresting the annually recurring anxiety occasioned by the impairment of bank reserves, called into temporary use, as they are to serve as a medium of circulation in the movements of crop harvesting.

UNCOMMON WEATHER

Brings Colds and Grippe.

Brings Colds and Grippo.

T is just a common cold, people say, there's no danger in that. Admitting their statement, then there are uncommon colds, colds which are dangerous; for many a fatal eickness begins with a cold. If we could tell the common cold from the uncommon we could feel quite safe. But we can't. The uncommon wriety is rarely recognized until it has fastened its hold on the lungs, and there are symptoms of consumption.

Commonly the first symptom of a "cold" is a chilly feeling, accompanied by suscering, or a tickling in the throat. The most frequent of external causes are draughts, wet or cold feet, or going from hot rooms auddenly into cold ones. More frequently there is an inner cause—the stagnation of blood caused by constipation or billiousness. Almost the first symptom is the feeling of cold in the feet and increased discharge from the nose, followed by bronchitis, grip, oreven by consumption.

COMMON SENSE MIDDICATION.

No one ever takes cold unless constipated, or exhausted, and having what we call mal-nutrition, which is attended with impoverished blood and exhaustion of nerve force. However there is no great danger in a cold unless it is neplected. Of course when the blood is in this stagnant condition the germs of grip, catarrh, consumption, malaria or any other disease find a fertile field in which to take root and grow. At the first symptoms the careful person will heed the warning by taking a mild laxative; some vegetable pill that will not disturb the warning by taking a mild laxative; some vegetable pill that will not value and the result of the cold starts with a cough, and it persists then some local treatment for this condition should be taken. A well known alterative extract which has been in the first symptom of a mental property in the colds, etc., as a surer result of the cold starts with a cough in the first symptom of case of the cold is in this stagnant condition should be taken. A well known alterative extract which has been on the market for a great many years, and whic well known alterative extract which has been on the market for a great many years, and which has been highly recommended by thousands of users, is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery' and one of 'Favorite Prescription,' and used them according to directions. We were more than surplied to see how wonderfully our daughter improved. She has gained in flesh, has attended school every day this wintername, allays the irritation and at the same time works in the proper and reasonable way, at the seat of the trouble—the stagnated or poisoned blood.

ARE WE THE CHILDREN OF NATURE?

Who can but admire the beautiful things in nature—the glory of the landscape, the trees, the meadows, the beauty of the sea and heaven! When we can admire we know that we are children of nature. The earth has nourished us through unknown ages of human existence. A mystical bond of sympathy connects us with the earth. Is it not true that the earth supplies us with everything that we really require for existence? We can live on vegetables and fruit which the earth produces. We would probably be better off to-day as a race without meat. Have you ever thought that it is probable that the earth supplied us with the means to keep our bodily vigor, our health, if we only knew it? The animals know by instinct what is good for them and will search until they find in some plant what they need for correcting indigestion or constipation, etc. Is it therefore not probable that there are roots and herbs supplied by hature which will cure the diseases that afflict human kind? ## WORE RINGS ON HER TOES

Princess Hatzfeldt Astonishes. All of London,

AT FANCY DRESS BALL

Went as Queen Esther, Attired in Al. the Splendors of the East, Including Rings on Her Toes-An Irish Quadrille.

(Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch.) LONDON, May 12 .- All London is talkng to-day of the sensational dress worn by the Princess Hatzfeldt, adopted daughter of the late C. P. Huntington, of California, at Mrs. Adair's ball.

The Princess Impersonated Queen Esther. Her gown was a wonderful Oriental creation, sparkling with preclous stones. Her head dress was studded with enough stones to set off a crown, but most marvelous of all were her sandals.

They were made so that the toes were free, with enormous ring blazing on each of them, after the ancient fashion of the East.

The Princess was the center of attraction from the very start of the ball, and her costume was declared the most sensational seen in years at a similar after.

sational seen in years at a same fair.

The feature of the ball was an Irish quadrille, arranged by Lady Barrymore, formerly of New York, and sister of the hostess. It was led by her daughter, Milss Post. The dancers were robes of silver tissue, velled with emerald chiffon, and decorated with Shamrocks and Irish harps.

BARKENTINE VERA CRUZ IS NOT WORTH FLOATING

(By Associated Press.)

(By Associated Press.)

NORFOLM, VA., May 12.—A message from Hatterns to-day states that the barkentine Vera Cruz, which is sahore at Ocracoke Inlet, is in good condition.

Agent Seymour, of the Merritt Wrecking Company, stated to-night that he had not yet heard from W. S. Tooker, who was sent to the scene to exemine the vessel, but it was believed that the vessel, but it was believed that the vessel, which is an old one, would hardly be worth trying to first, since she is high and dry, and it would require is extraordinary high tide to get the barkentine into her native elment again.
